MARILYN KAY ALLEN

Marilyn Kay Allen, representing her home town of North Little Rock, walked away tearfully but joyously Saturday night with the 1969 Miss Arkansas crown that was well earned after her second attempt.

Kay, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hale Ray Allen of North Little Rock, is a 20 year old, is 5'6" tall and weighs 115 pounds, 35-24-35, is a brunette and was the only double preliminary competition winner in the four day pageant. She also did this in last year's contest when she represented State College of Arkansas and was chosen 2nd runnerup.

The New Miss Arkansas, dressed in an ice blue Grecian Tunic performed as a professional her talent, an original acrobatic ballet to the theme from "Exodus". She was outstanding but had plenty of coming from the 1st and 2nd place runners-up, Jo Ella Todd, Miss Jonesboro and Miss Deborah Lynn Vantrease, Miss Malvern.

Bernice Rhea Stapp, a Van Buren beauty was elected Miss Congeniality by her fellow contestants.

Marilyn Kay Allen Miss Arkansas

By PETE YOUNG

Associated Press Writer
HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—The victory tears were gone and Marilyn Kay Allen was all smiles Sunday as she entered her first day as Miss Arkansas of 1969.

Miss Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hale Ray Allen of North Little Rock, won the coveted title Saturday night in competition with 40 other girls from around the state.

"I'm slowly descending," she said, recalling the experience of the previous night. "I'm just thrilled and I'm still nervous." But it didn't show. Her dark-brown hair flowed over her shoulders and her brown eyes failed to show the lack of sleep from the week of pageantry that caused her to lose 10 pounds. She was totally composed but there was excitement in her voice.

The pageant was her second try at the Miss Arkansas title. She was third runner up last year to Helen Rose Gennings. Miss Allen won two preliminaries last year—the swim suit and talent divisions—and duplicated the feat this year.

"I had never dreamed I could be Miss Arkansas and then last year I won the two preliminaries and got to know Sharon (Evans, the 1967 winner)—that was an inspiration," she said.

Kay, as she prefers to be called, represented North Little Rock this year. In the previous pageant, she represented State College of Arkansas where she is a senior.

First runnerup to the 5-foot-6, 115 pound beauty was Joe Ella Todd, Miss Jonesboro, followed by Deborah Lynn Vantrease, Miss Malvern and a sorority sister to Miss Evans, Norma Jean Hawk, Miss Arkansas Valley and Deborah Kay Cook, Miss Arkansas State University.

Selected Miss Congeniality was Bernice Rhea Stapp, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Stapp of Rudy. She represented Van Buren County.

When the five finalists were questioned by the judges, Kay was asked, "What does spiritual maturity mean to you?" "It's having faith and a belief in God, knowing you can always put your trust in him," she answered. "Then I believe you can make it anywhere you go."

Kay, who measures 37-24-35, plans to give the same acrobatic routine at the Miss America Pageant this fall that she performed Saturday night. It features poise and bursts of energy—her more obvious attributes.

As for her plans, they're all sewn up with the crown.

Most Expensive Junk Yard in History Is Left on Moon

By PAUL REGER
AP-Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Two Apollo 11 astronauts leave behind one of the most expensive junk yards in the universe when they lift off from the moon today.

They discarded almost $1 million worth of cameras, tools and breathing equipment up there. The cameras included the black and white television camera that captured their moon walk for the world. This camera cost the National Aeronautics and Space Administration $250,000.

Also in the litter—a Kodak worth $50,000 and a Hasselblad camera that cost $11,176. After returning to the moon lander's cabin, the astronauts opened the hatch and dumped the back packs which kept them alive during their walk.

Each of these units, called the Portable Life Support System, cost NASA $300,000. Moon tools designed especially for the astronauts added to the junk pile.

Tongs, a scoop, a long-handled hammer, an extension handle and other items were dropped when the spacemen were through with them. These tools cost $45,000.

Largest item to be left was the descent stage of the lunar module. NASA is reluctant to put a cost on this two-ton piece of metal since it's only part of a lunar module that cost $41 million.

Even if the spacecraft stage hadn't been left on the moon, it could never have returned to earth; it has no heat shield. An American flag was left on the moon. The space agency doesn't know how much it cost and doesn't want to.

NASA bought a large number of flags from different manufacturers, a spokesman said, and then removed all labels. One was selected at random. "We've no idea which one is up there," said the spokesman. "This was so no company could make a big thing of their flag being on the moon."

A silicone wafer bearing electronically-reduced messages of goodwill from 78 countries cost NASA nothing. A private firm produced it at no cost to the government.

A plaque bearing the autographs of the astronauts and of President Nixon couldn't be priced. It was made in the metal shop at NASA of materials already at hand.

Observers in Tel Aviv speculated that Israel may be switching from retaliatory commando raids against Egypt to relying on air power because commando operations have not proved as successful as first expected.

An Egyptian spokesman said that "waves of Israeli fighters attacked Egyptian military positions, towns and other civilian targets" in the commando attack on Green Island.

The spokesman said some civilians were killed. An Israeli spokesman said the night attack was Israel's costliest since the six-day war. He denied the Egyptian claim that 30 Israelis were killed and a fighter plane shot down.

The Egyptians also claimed two Israeli boats were sunk in the battle.

Weather Is to Remain Unchanged

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Little change is expected in the Arkansas weather pattern from the past couple of days, the U.S. Weather Bureau said today.

Temperatures were expected to reach the 90s again today. Sunday most of the shower activity moved into the northwest section of the state bringing some much needed rain to that area.

Brother of Dr. King Is Found Dead

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Rev. A. D. Williams King, 38, only brother of slain Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., was found dead today in the swimming pool of his home.

"It looked like he just came to take a dip and drowned," said an associate, the Rev. Andrew J. Young.

"There was no sign of foul play," said Young, executive director of Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC). King was a member of the SCLC board of directors. Police were investigating but giving out no information. Officers kept newsmen away from the King house in southwest Atlanta.

Auto Lethal as Cancer, Officer Says

"The automobile is a lethal deadly weapon," Ray Davis of the Arkansas State Police told the Hope Rotary club last Friday at the Town and Country. "As a killer, the automobile accident is exceeded only by cancer and heart disease," he said.

Stressing the need for more education in the field of traffic safety, the speaker showed a film about defensive driving which dealt with the one-car accident. After the film, he answered questions and distributed pamphlets concerning the subject of traffic safety. The program was arranged by Ed Astin, who introduced the speaker.

Before the program, President Benny Coleman presented the club's yearly budget to the group. He also named the following Rotarians to the Youth Center Committee: Dr. Lester Sitzes, C.R. "Dick" Moore, and B.N. Holt.

Visitors welcomed to the meeting were: Cecil Harris of Millwood, Roy Wray, and Floyd White.

Negroes Demonstrate at Pageant

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—More than 150 Negroes gathered outside the Hot Springs Convention Auditorium Saturday night, apparently to protest the lack of Negro contestants in the Miss Arkansas pageant.

The pageant, which was won by Miss North Little Rock, Marilyn Kay Allen, was held inside the auditorium. There were no incidents. The Negroes met persons leaving the auditorium with chants of "CLOB." CLOB stands for Council for Liberation of Blacks, an organization which seeks more employment of Negroes at Hot Springs.

The group also chanted, "Wait until next year." One participant yelled, "If they have the pageant next year like the pageant this year (without Negroes) there's not going to be a pageant next year."

Goddard U.S. First Expert on Rockets

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — "I cried," Mrs. Robert H. Goddard said quietly today.

"I was very happy, and very sad too. I wished Bob could have been here. He would have loved it."

Goddard, whose lifelong dream was to send a rocket to the moon, was to rocketry what Henry Ford was to automobiles.

The shy, intense physicist sent the world's first liquid-fueled missile aloft from a farm field in nearby Auburn in 1926. His subsequent years of investigation and experimentation formed the basis for the concept that made the Apollo 11 mission and its predecessors possible.

Mrs. Goddard said she watched the Apollo 11 crew fulfill her husband's dream alone. "I was filled with nostalgia," she said.

"Bob would have been so happy. He wouldn't have shouted, or anything. He would just have glowed."

Goddard died at age 63 in 1945. The farm field from which he sent his first rocket aloft now is a golf course, and Sunday, as men set foot on the moon, a soft rain washed the rolling green expanse.

Mrs. Goddard said she still recalled vividly that first experiment. She said the rocket rose only "a little ways"—it was 41 feet—then fell into a cabbage patch.

"But that turned the trick, didn't it?" she asked.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MR. and MRS. WILLIAM M. MILLER

In a candlelight ceremony in the Oak Grove Methodist Church, Miss Belinda Kay Ross and William Michael Miller pledged wedding vows on Friday, June 20. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison E. Ross, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Howard Miller and the late Mr. Miller.

Before a background of greenery, daisies and candelabra, the Rev. Connie A. Robbins performed the double-ring ceremony. In preparation for the exchange of vows, Mrs. Jack Brown, pianist, played a program of nuptial music and accompanied Dr. Lowell Harris, soloist, who sang "Because." The candles were lit by Miss Sandy Miller, sister of the groom, and Master Randal Ross, brother of the bride.

Entering on the arm of her father, the bride was attired in a full-length gown fashioned with a bodice of clipped lace medallions which had a scoop neckline, cap sleeves, and an Empire waistline. The silk organza skirt swept into a chapel train. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion fell from a coronet of seed pearls and lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Martha Jane Flowers, the maid of honor, wore blue brocade. Her full-length dress was trimmed with taffeta, and she carried a bouquet of daisies. James "Butch" Fant served his cousin as best man. Ushers were Tim Ross, brother of the bride, and David Ross, cousin of the bride.

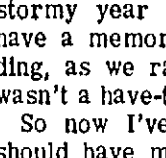

Mrs. Ross, mother of the bride, wore a pink dress with rose appliques, and Mrs. Miller, mother of the groom, wore blue voile. Each had a white carnation corsage.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the fellowship room of the church. Miss Vicki Miller, sister of the groom, poured the punch, while Miss Ann Mitchell and Miss Sharon Ross served the cake. The bride's table was covered with a yellow cloth overlaid with white lace. A candelabrum centered the table, and cake, punch, nuts and mints were served.

Hostesses were Mrs. Joe Barham, Mrs. Earl Hampton, Mrs. Devil Ross and Mrs. Howard Underwood.

Out-of-town guests included: Mrs. G.E. Moses, Mrs. Thomas Jones, Miss Susan Barker, Baytown, Tex.; Miss Jamelle Wynn, Mrs. Burt Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cash and Candy, Camden, Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Fuller, El Dorado; Debbie and Diane Impson, Killen, Tex.; Miss Sara Rice, Stamps; Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Nix, Lewisville; Mr. and Mrs. John Ross and Jonna Lee, Waldo; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Waits and family, Little Rock; Mr. and Mrs. Delvin Ross and family, Magnolia.

For a wedding trip to Hot Springs the bride wore navy trimmed with red and white and planned a corsage from her wedding bouquet at her shoulder. Since their return, the newlyweds are making their home at 819 W. Ave. E in Hope.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

SHOULD ETIQUETTE BE ETIQUETTE?

Dear Helen: Since when? AND WHY?

I mean this "etiquette decrees" business.

I was married young and very briefly. We lived together for one stormy year and I didn't even have a memory of a lovely wedding, as we ran away, though it wasn't a have-to thing.

So now I've met the man I should have met first. We both want a wedding to remember, and that means in our case, a rather big one, as we have many friends.

Yet "they say" a woman's second wedding must be small, with no veil worn, and nothing elaborate.

Who says a girl can't wear a veil or have orange blossoms if she isn't a virgin? Who says she can't have the wedding of her dreams just because she made a terrible mistake with one man? For that matter, what's the sense really in two envelopes for the announcement or invitation. One would do.

It seems that etiquette has decreed some pretty senseless rules and it's about time we broke them.—SECOND BRIDE

Dear Bride: Antiquated etiquette "rules" will never be broken unless someone makes a start. How about YOU?—H.

Dear Helen: I learned these points the hard way. Maybe if you print them, they will help some other woman who is wondering, "What has happened to my marriage?"

1. Set the alarm clock a half hour early so that you can have his breakfast on when he awakens.

2. A good morning kiss will get him out of bed in much better spirits than a loud-ringing alarm.

3. Don't make a big issue of it when he wants to skim through the morning paper.

4. Don't dump your problems on him immediately after he returns home, or he'll need a restful haven after a hard day—and he listens better after dinner!

5. Don't nag him if he has a particular sport, or enjoys TV sports. Remember that being a "gold widow" is better than having to join Al-Anon, or wait up until 5 a.m. for a playboy husband!—HAPPY WIFE

Dear Wife: Your points are well taken—or should be—by all wives.

Now, let's hear it from the husbands. You happily married men out there: Tell us how you manage it!

Dear Helen: "Engaged to a Lovable Nut" need not worry about his "nut." God has always taken care of "fools and idiots," or so many would not survive free ways, mix-masters and drunken driving. He especially takes care of His good Samaritans. She won't be mugged by those she tries to help. She'll walk safely.

Convention Enters Its Last Lap

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Constitutional Convention, closing in on an Aug. 23 deadline returns to work Tuesday to consider the various aspects of the judicial branch of government.

The convention decided last week to retain the right-to-work provision and sovereign immunity and broaden the taxing powers of municipalities.

The delegates still must wade through preliminary action on the judicial branch before it can take up the second reading of all items approved.

The second reading and redrafting of all proposals is to be completed by Aug. 23, the date the convention is scheduled to recess.

The delegates agreed last week that they would reduce their lunch hour and work past 5 p.m. if necessary to complete action. The possibility of working nights was also considered.

The right-to-work provision, which has drawn strong opposition from organized labor, was approved 77-6 last week. The provision outlaws closed union shops.

J. Bill Becker, president of the Arkansas State AFL-CIO, has said labor will oppose any new document that includes the right-to-work provision.

The delegates voted Wednesday to abolish the immunity of charitable institutions, such as hospitals and churches from lawsuits, but reconsidered its action Friday and decided to retain charitable immunity.

The convention followed a similar pattern with sovereign immunity, the right of the state to be protected from lawsuit. The delegates voted Wednesday to make the state liable in accordance with limitations established by the legislature. However, the matter was brought up for reconsideration Friday and it ended in a 39-39 tie. A tie means the measure does not pass.

The broader tax powers include the provision that a municipality can levy any amount of taxes that the voters will approve. A proposal that would give municipalities the authority to exercise any legislative power not prohibited by the constitution or by statute was also approved. Under the 1874 Constitution, the municipalities are restricted to powers explicitly granted them by the state.

The convention also approved a proposal that would allow a municipality's indebtedness to be equal to 20 per cent of the total assessed tax valuation of real and personal property in the municipality.

Too-Liberal Editors Are Fired by Reds

MOSCOW (AP) — Poet Yevgeny Yevtushenko, 36, and two other Soviet writers sometimes considered liberal have been fired from the editorial board of a Soviet magazine, an editor confirmed today.

The editor was asked by telephone for comment when the names of Yevtushenko, novelist Vasily Axyonov and playwright Viktor Rozov were missing from the editorial board listing in the latest issue of Yunost—Youth.

"A decision was taken to make some changes in the editorial board," the editor said, "so the names of these three men now are absent. But they continue to cooperate with this journal."

He did not elaborate. There were rumors here two months ago that Yevtushenko, Axyonov and Rozov, three of the most popular writers among young people, were fired as the result of a crackdown on liberals. At the time, Yunost spokesmen denied any such move was planned for the mass-circulation monthly literary journal.

Yunost has long been under attack by orthodox Communists for sometimes publishing liberal works which criticize social problems here.

Ironically, Anatoly Kuznetsov, one of the writers whose works in Yunost have been most strongly assailed, was among four new editors named. The other three are not well known.

MISS CINDY REESE

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Reese of Hope announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Cindy, to Dennis Payne, son of Mr. and Mrs. H.J. Payne of Hope. The wedding will take place in the First United Methodist Church of Hope Thursday, August 21, at 8 p.m.

Miss Reese, a 1967 graduate of Hope High School, will be a junior journalism and English major at the University of Arkansas this fall in Fayetteville, where she was a member of Chi Omega sorority last year.

Payne, also a 1967 Hope High School graduate, is a pre-pharmacy student and has attended Henderson State College and Texarkana Junior College. He is a former resident of Nashville, Ark. and attended school there eight years.

Invitations will not be sent. Friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Astronauts' Wives Are Jubilant

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — No different from the rest of the nation, the proud Apollo 11 wives struggled to find enough adjectives to express their feelings for their men on the moon.

"The evening has been unbelievably perfect," Mrs. Nell Armstrong said today after watching the moon explorations of her husband and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. "It is an honor and privilege to share with my husband, the crew, the Manned Spacecraft Center, the American public and all of mankind this magnificent experience of the beginning of lunar exploration."

Earlier, Mrs. Armstrong expressed her feelings much more simply. "I was tremendously excited," she said.

"It was hard to think it was real until the men actually moved," said Mrs. Aldrin. "I felt I was looking at another simulation."

After the moon touchdown Mrs. Aldrin said she wept "because I was so happy."

"I thought it was fantastically marvelous," said Mrs. Michael Collins, whose husband flew a moon orbit in the command capsule while the two other crewmen visited the lunar surface.

"Don't you think he is with them there in spirit?" Mrs. Collins replied when asked if her husband was disappointed because he was not in the landing party.

All Apollo families planned to sleep late today before the next critical phase, blastoff from the moon.

Tuesday night, if everything goes right, the three wives will be honored at a preplanned party given by astronaut Bill

Anders. "The splashdown will be the best part of the flight," Mrs. Aldrin said Sunday at a news conference.

And Mrs. Armstrong did not consider the moon landing the greatest moment of her life. "That was" when "we were married," she said.

The astronauts' children shared in Sunday's excitement, and in the praise of their fathers.

"It was pretty exciting," said 12-year-old Ricky Armstrong. "I'm proud of daddy."

"It was very exciting," said 11-year-old Andy Aldrin.

Had Andy any ambitions to become an astronaut?

"Oh Lord, I couldn't go through this twice," Mrs. Aldrin answered.

Television and Radio

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — In television's greatest spectacular, astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. hopped about the surface of the moon, set up an American flag and snapped each other's pictures like two tourists.

As much of the world watched, Armstrong stepped from the Eagle to the lunar surface Sunday night and said, "That's one small step for man, a giant leap for mankind."

The first live television pictures from another celestial body were as marvelous as the achievement of Apollo 11. It was all the Saturday matinees of Buck Rogers and Flash Gordon. But this was for real.

The brilliant sun and the deep shadows made for a contrasting image and the slow-scan black-and-white camera caused the picture to blur during movement. Still, there was no detracting from their awesome impact.

The pictures were so good that it was possible to see the powdery dust kicked up as Aldrin bounded over the surface and to pick out his footprints.

NBC estimated that 125 million Americans stayed up for the greatest late show ever, and that 123 million saw the ghostly image of Armstrong first step to the lunar surface.

ABC, which is handling the international pool coverage, estimates that possibly as many as 500 million people in North and South America, Europe, Asia and Australia and parts of Africa saw the moonwalk. Apparently only the Soviet Union and Communist China did not broadcast the transmission.

On the lunar surface, Armstrong and Aldrin enjoyed themselves like two kids in a new sandbox.

Aldrin did a trampoline act on the ladder. Armstrong did a dancing sidestep. Both hopped about as they tried out their lunar legs on the low-gravity moon. Then they set about the serious business of erecting equipment and gathering lunar samples.

On a split screen, President Nixon sent his good wishes to the astronauts and said he hoped their achievement would promote peace and tranquility.

Even the cool words from the astronauts as they guided the craft down could not ease the tension until Armstrong announced: "Houston ... Tranquility base here. The Eagle has landed."

It was a long, satisfying display of man's ingenuity and determination and the spirit of the intrepid astronauts.

It is not often that the world can share a common experience, particularly one of peaceful intent. It was a moving occasion that will be remembered and passed on for many years.

Richie Allen Rejoins the Phillies

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — After 26 days of suspension, Richie Allen has returned to the Philadelphia Phillies without any promise he will be traded, or get back the estimated $11,700 in pay he lost.

Allen was reinstated after a conference of more than an hour Sunday morning with owner Bob Carpenter and manager Bob Skinner of the Phillies. He will not play, however, until he works into physical condition, Skinner said.

The Phillies' slugging first baseman was suspended indefinitely without pay by Skinner when Allen failed to show up for doubleheader against the New York Mets June 24 at Shea Stadium. He missed 26 days and 29 games.

Allen was hitting .319 with 19 home runs and 45 RBIs. Skinner announced Allen's reinstatement shortly before the Phillies met the Chicago Cubs Sunday in a doubleheader.

"Allen is reinstated as of today," Skinner said. "He will not play. It is not fair to him until he is in shape to play."

Skinner said, "Richie and I forgot the past and are interested only in the future of Allen and the Phillies. He is going to throw at home and will work out at the ballpark Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday."

Allen left the ballpark after the meeting and was unavailable for comment.

Allen's estimated season salary is $80,000, about $450 per day or $11,700 for the 26-day suspension. Phillies' General Manager John Quinn said there was no agreement for Allen to get back any of the suspension money. Quinn also said there was no promise to trade Allen after the current season.

The day after he was suspended before leaving New York, Alen told several reporters in a brief sidewalk interview, "I'll never play for the Phillies again." He was incensed because he was suspended before being asked why he missed the doubleheader.

"I could have been lying on the road dead or badly injured," he said.

Actually, Allen went to Monmouth Park to see one of his thoroughbreds run, and was unable to get to the ballpark in time for the start of twilight doubleheader.

Since returning to his Philadelphia home, Allen has refused to make a public statement, other than a television interview for which he was paid a reported $500.

Asked whether Allen had agreed to conform to all the club rules, Carpenter told reporters, "We discussed all phases. I think he'll make every effort. I just want him to be one of the 25 men and that's what he wants to be."

Allen has shown up late for batting practice, and once before this season failed to appear for a game. He missed the team plane for St. Louis earlier in the season and showed up two days later. Is Allen a new man, Carpenter was asked.

"There is no way you can expect anyone to be a new person," the owner said. "He (Allen) understands the way things must be done."

Skinner was asked how come Allen stayed away so long and why the first baseman decided to come on Sunday.

"We didn't discuss why he stayed away so long. He wants to play ball. That's why he came back at this time."

Also asked about a possible trade, Skinner replied, "You can't predict the future. When fall comes around, Bob Carpenter, John Quinn and I will evaluate the Phillies."

Skinner also said he did not discuss finances when asked if he promised Allen an opportunity to earn back the fine money. "Richie understands he was suspended without pay."

Why did Allen decide to come back?

The best guess is he was running out of bread.

Hurls Twins to Double Victory

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
If the Seattle Pilots had a choice, they'd probably repeal the Saturday night curfew and pass a Blue Law banning Jim Perry on Sunday.

After struggling to a 16-inning standoff against the Pilots Saturday night before an American League curfew rule suspended play, the Minnesota Twins handed Perry a bat and ball Sunday ... and quickly doubled their investment.

Perry pitched two scoreless innings in the resumption of the suspended game and doubled to launch a four-run burst in the 18th that beat Seattle 11-7. Then he started, and finished, the regularly scheduled game, scattering nine hits as the Twins blanked the Pilots 4-0 for a four-game lead in the AL West Division.

The two victories, which gave Perry an 11-4 season mark, moved the Twins another length ahead of second place Oakland. The Athletics divided a doubleheader with California, winning 9-6 after a 7-3 first game loss.

Elsewhere, Boston downed Baltimore's East Division leaders 6-5; Kansas City swept a twin bill from the Chicago White Sox 8-6 and 3-2 in 11 innings; Detroit edged Cleveland 3-2 before bowing to the Indians 5-4 in 10 innings and the New York Yankees shaded Washington 3-2 in 11 innings.

In National League action, the Chicago Cubs won a pair from Philadelphia 1-0 and 6-1; the New York Mets split with Montreal, taking the nightcap 4-3 in 10 innings after losing 3-2; Atlanta blasted San Diego 10-0 and San Francisco whipped Los Angeles 7-3.

The St. Louis-Pittsburgh single game and the Houston-Cincinnati doubleheader were rained out.

The Twins and Pilots were deadlocked 7-7 when Saturday night's marathon was suspended because of the 1 a.m. curfew. When play resumed Sunday, Perry took over on the mound for Minnesota and rookie John Gelnar did the pitching for the home club.

The tie stood until the 18th, when Perry lashed a one-out double. Ted Uhlaender beat out an infield single, Rod Carew walked, filling the bases, and Gelnar balked, scoring Perry with the go-ahead run. Chuck Manuel's two-run double and Rick Renick's sacrifice fly capped the rally.

With both pitching staffs depleted during Saturday night's endurance test, Perry and Gelnar also got the starting assignments in the regular game.

Perry again stopped the Pilots cold, but Gelnar, 2-7, was tagged for bases-empty homers by George Mitterwald and Cesar Tovar before being lifted in the eighth.

Home runs by Aurelio Rodriguez and Jim Spencer, coupled with four Oakland errors, helped the Angels win the opener. But Reggie Jackson smacked his 37th homer and two doubles in the nightcap and

Pitcher Perry Homers

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
The way Gaylord Perry swings a bat, he stands as much chance of hitting a home run as ... oh ... as a man does of walking on the moon.

Well, Perry and astronauts Neil Armstrong and Edwin Aldrin Well, Perry and astronauts Aldrin made it together Sunday. The San Francisco right-hander tagged his first career homer and pitched the Giants to a 7-3 victory over Los Angeles, tightening up the National League's West Division race while the astronauts took a moon stroll that tightened up the universe.

Perry's third inning homer was the first hit off Claude Osteen and so shook the Dodgers pitcher that he walked Bobby Bonds. Bonds stole second and then scored as Osteen, still trying to regain his composure, threw into center field on an attempted pickoff.

Later, Willie McCovey hammered his 30th homer and Willie Mays tagged a single and double, running his career hit total to 2,885 and moving past Zach Wheat and into 16th place on the all-time list.

Elsewhere in the National League Sunday, Atlanta battered San Diego 10-0, Chicago took a doubleheader from Philadelphia 1-0 and 6-1 and Montreal split with New York, winning 3-2 before losing 4-3. Houston at Cincinnati and St. Louis at Pittsburgh were postponed by rain.

In the American League, New York nipped Washington 3-2 in 11 innings, Boston shaded Baltimore 6-5, Kansas City took a doubleheader from Chicago 8-6 and 3-2 in 11 innings, Minnesota beat Seattle 11-7 in the completion of a suspended game that went 18 innings, and then took the Pilots 4-0 in the regularly scheduled game, California beat Oakland 7-3 before losing 9-6 and Detroit edged Cleveland 3-2 before the Indians took the Tigers 5-4.

Perry's homer was his seventh base hit this season and raised his batting average to .109. Actually, Gaylord has been in a bit of a slump this season. He batted .113 last year, .143 in 1967 and had a career high of .186 in 1966. Then the numbers dip again to .156 in 1965 and a disastrous .054 in 1964.

The victory left the third place Giants just one game back of first place Atlanta and three percentage points short of the runnerup Dodgers in the West.

The Braves took over the division lead by thumping San Diego as Pat Jarvis coasted on a six-hitter.

Orlando Cepeda rapped a three-run homer for Atlanta.

Ferguson Jenkins bested Grant Jackson in a first game pitcher's duel as the Cubs nipped the Phillies. Jackson allowed just two hits and struck out 12 in eight innings but yielded the game's only run in the third inning when Don Young walked, moved to second on Jenkins' sacrifice and scored on Don Kessinger's infield single.

Jenkins scattered seven hits and picked up his 13th victory in 20 decisions.

The Cubs completed the sweep with Dick Selma hurling a four-hitter in the second game. Ron Santo rapped three hits including a two-run homer his 20th of the season, to lead the Chicago attack.

Gary Waslewski pitched a five-hitter and Montreal bunched home runs by Mack Jones, Bob Bailey and Bobby Wine in the fourth inning to beat the Mets in their first game.

Sal Bando and Danny Cater hit successive homers as the A's bounced back.

Syd O'Brien rapped a homer, triple and single, knocking in three runs, as the Red Sox completed a three-game sweep over the Orioles. O'Brien's two-run triple in the eighth keyed a three-run burst that offset a three-run Baltimore rally in the ninth, giving Ray Culp his 14th victory in 20 decisions.

Bob Taylor drove in five runs with a homer and two singles as Kansas City snapped a six-game losing streak in the opener at Chicago. The Royals broke an 11th inning stalemate in the nightcap on Bob Oliver's RBI single.

The Tigers beat Cleveland on Willie Horton's eighth inning homer, then blew the second game when Jose Cardenal scored from third on a bases-loaded force play in the 10th. Chuck Hinton's blooper to center was trapped by Jim Northrup, who fired the ball toward the plate in an attempt to nail Cardenal.

Namath Rejoins Jets

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — Joe Namath was back with the New York Jets today.

The super star quarterback arrived at the Jets training camp at Hofstra University Sunday night and said he would work out for the first time this season today.

For Namath, it ended a brief retirement which he announced June 6 when pro football Commissioner Pete Rozelle ordered him either to sell his interests in an East Side restaurant, Bachelors III, or face suspension from football.

Lawrence Resigns as Asst. Coach

Bill Lawrence, assistant coach of the Hope High Bobcat football team, has resigned according to James H. Jones, superintendent of Hope schools.

Lawrence revealed upon his resignation last week, his plans to accept a position as head coach of a junior high team in Little Rock.

Johnny McMurtry, 1969 graduate of A&M in Monticello, will replace Lawrence in the capacity of assistant coach and 7th and 8th grade P.E. teacher. He is expected to report by August 1.

The Senior High School coaching staff now includes Ronnie Higgins, head football coach assisted by Johnny McMurtry and Willie Tate. John Allen Ross is the new head basketball coach and will also assist in the football program.

Pearson in 9th Victory at Bristol

BRISTOL, Tenn. (AP) — Stock ace David Pearson roared to his ninth NASCAR Grand National victory of the season in the Volunteer 500, a 250-miler here Sunday and ran his earnings to more than $100,000 for the second year in a row.

Andretti in 5th Victory of Season

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Indianapolis 500 winner Mario Andretti racked up his fifth win of the auto racing season over the weekend by edging Wally Dallenbach by 6½ seconds in the Trenton 200 Saturday. Andretti finished the race with one gallon of fuel left in his car.

Andretti raced around the 1½-mile Trenton Speedway track in his rear-engine turbo-charged Ford at an average speed of 139,991 miles per hour.

Andretti, who races out of Nazareth, Pa., won over $13,000. Mike Mosley of West Covina, Calif., placed third in the race which saw half the starting field of 28 drop out before the finish.

U. of A. BB Team Will Open Dec. 1

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The University of Arkansas basketball team will open its 19-game schedule next season Dec. 1 against the University of Missouri at Columbia.

The Razorbacks also are scheduled to play in two early-season classics, the Liberty Bowl Classic Dec. 10-11 at Memphis and the Bayou Classic Dec. 19-20 at Lafayette, La.

The Razorbacks will also meet two new opponents, Oklahoma and Northwest Louisiana.

Amarillo Beats Travs by 4 to 1

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Amarillo's Bill Frost, hurling hitless ball through seven innings, finished with a four-hitter, as the Glants dowed Arkansas' Travelers, 4-1, in Texas League action here Sunday afternoon.

Frost lost his no-hitter on Gino Marenza's infield single to open the eighth. The Amarillo right-hander lost his bid for a shutout on Bob Sadowski's two-out double in the ninth before collecting his ninth win against five defeats.

Amarillo settled the outcome with a three-run uprising in the second against loser Dave Bakenhaster. The damage came on singles by Jim Mallon, Bob Holbert, Dave Rader, Frost and Damaso Blanco. The Glants added another run in the third.

In other league action, Memphis held on to edge Albuquerque 6-5 and San Antonio edged El Paso 3-2.

Twins, earned two victories, hurling the final two innings of Minnesota's 18-inning 11-7 suspended game triumph and then coming back to shut out Seattle 4-0 in the regularly scheduled game.

U.S. Sweeps Track Meet, Turnout Poor

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — They had just finished handing out the medals at the conclusion of the U.S.-Soviet-British Commonwealth track meet when a football appeared on the green playing field of the Los Angeles Coliseum. Some athletes, it appeared, were as uninterested in the proceedings as the general public.

A total of 30,340 fans saw the meet Friday night and Saturday — a sharp drop from the crowds that have attended previous American-Russian track meets. In 1962, when the meet was at Stanford University, for instance, around 150,000 saw the two-day meet.

The Soviets and the British were surprised at the poor crowds and quick to point out how well the meet would have drawn abroad.

How the turnout would affect future international competition in non-Olympic years remained to be seen.

A television contract probably kept the meet from losing money, but the Amateur Athletic Union was unable to get any civic organizations to sponsor the meet.

The AAU had asked for a $90,000 guarantee, which nobody would meet. That led to poor publicity and, as a whole, organization for the affair appeared to be nonexistent.

The meet itself produced no world records, but several outstanding performances were recorded including several Coliseum records.

The U.S. men won 12 of 22 events—with John Carlos capturing the 100 meters in 10.3 and the 200 in 20.3—while the U.S. girls won seven of 13 events—

Jim: "We have received so much mail lately asking about the code word ARCH that we really should devote some articles to it."

Oswald: "The word applies to thinking by declarer and defenders as soon as dummy hits the table. A stands for Analyze the lead, R for Review the bidding, C for Count your winners and losers, and H for How can I make the contract or, in the case of a defender, How can I defeat it?"

Jim: "It's mostly for use by declarer. Take today's hand as an example. South analyzes the opening lead. It may be the top of a doubleton but most likely it is fourth-best of a four- or five-card suit."

Oswald: "There is no bidding to review and a count of winners shows one spade, three hearts, two diamonds and three clubs. A count of losers shows that South must knock out the ace of clubs in order to develop his three club winners."

Jim: "The defense is also going to take some spade tricks. If the suit divides 4-3, South is sure of his contract, since three spades plus one club comes to only four losers."

Oswald: "If the suit is going to break 5-2, there are four potential spade losers. How can South guard against this?"

Jim: "He goes back to the A and Analyzes the lead some more. If West held a suit headed by king-queen-jack, he would open an honor. Therefore, East is marked with at least one honor. South goes right up with the ace of spades and leads a club. It doesn't make any difference where the ace of clubs lies. The defense can't pick up four spade tricks immediately."

THE WELL CHILD

Safeguard Children Against Poison in Home

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

How safe are your children from being poisoned in your home? The National Clearinghouse for Poison Control Centers has issued guidelines and here are some of the most important:

- Aerosol sprays—ordinary exposure is harmless but deliberate spray sniffing may cause rapid death.
- After-shave lotions contain alcohol and may lead to intoxication or dangerous lowering of the blood sugar.
- Barbecue fluid may cause a chemical pneumonia if inhaled.
- Body conditioners—see after-shave lotions.
- Bubble bath liquid soap—drinking will cause vomiting.
- Cigarettes will cause vomiting if they are eaten.
- Cigarette ashes are not harmful when only small amounts are eaten.
- Cologne—see after-shave lotions.
- Deodorizer cakes—if a child has eaten as much as a teaspoonful, it should be removed by washing out the stomach.
- Kerosene—see barbecue fluid.
- Lighter fluid—see barbecue fluid.
- Putty—if over three ounces are eaten, it may cause mechanical blocking of the intestines.
- Roach poison may contain arsenic or boric acid. The ingredients are listed on the package.
- Shaving cream—see cigarettes.
- Soap—see cigarettes.
- Thermometers—broken glass may cut child's mouth. The small amount of mercury swallowed is harmless.
- Toilet water—see after-shave lotion.
- Tooth paste—eating large amounts may cause vomiting.

Because manufacturers are aware of hazards to children, every reasonable measure is being used, including ballpoint pen inks, colored candles, caps for toy pistols, children's crayons (but not industrial crayons), the dehumidifying packets found in some medicine bottles, fish bowl additives, matches, indoor paints, felt-tip markers and sachets.

Q—A friend advised me not to use baby talcum powder on girl babies because this could clog the uterine tubes and make them sterile. Is this true?

A—No.

Recovery Ship Worries About Germs

By RALPH DIGHTON Associated Press Writer

ABOARD USS HORNET (AP)—A U.S. space agency official says he is still trying to determine how far away this recovery ship must be when the Apollo 11 capsule lands in the Pacific to insure that the 2,200 people aboard, including President Nixon, are safe from possible lunar contamination.

Existence of the problem arose at Thursday news briefing at which the ship's commander, Capt. C.J. Seiberlich, said one purpose of daily recovery training exercises was to establish ground rules for positioning the Hornet at splashdown time early July 24 "to avoid possible contamination of the ship."

Asked how the tightly sealed capsule could endanger a ship expected to be at least two miles away when it hits the water, Dr. Donald Stullken of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said that air vents on the Apollo craft open when its parachutes pop out and are not closed until after touchdown.

"If the ship was close enough down wind," he said, "it might be possible for the ship to be contaminated."

He said he had asked NASA officials at Houston, Tex., to compute safe distances under varying wind conditions and that he expected an answer in adequate time.

The vents, designed to expel stale air, are among several areas to be scrubbed with iodine solution by a frogman shortly after splashdown. This presumably would kill any moon germs brought into the spacecraft by the astronauts after their walk on the lunar surface.

Widow of Eisenhower Is Home

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who spent the last week of a three-month visit to Europe in a hospital, returned to the United States today still suffering from what she described as a bad cold.

The widow of the former president arrived on the liner United States and said she still was recuperating from a bout with acute bronchitis that put her in an English hospital.

She had spent most of her visit aboard with her son, John, the American ambassador in Belgium.

She told newsmen she planned to go to her Gettysburg, Pa., farm after a shopping stop in New York.

2,230 Near Collisions in the Air

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Aviation Administration says it received reports of 2,230 near-collisions in mid-air last year including 1,128 classified as hazardous.

It added, in its report Thursday, that a "minimum estimate of four hazardous" aircraft near-misses occurred for every one that was reported to it.

The FAA, in an effort to gather reliable statistics for the first time, had encouraged pilots to report the narrowly averted collisions—and had promised no penalty would be given to anyone filing a near-miss report.

The FAA said that, in the reports it received, almost 100,000 passengers were on large transport aircraft and about 5,000 passengers and crew in non-scheduled flights.

The agency noted there were about 52.3 million flight operations in the United States last year—an average of 25,000 flights for each near-collision. The 35 mid-air crashes last year killed 68 persons, the FAA said.

Smog Hits Central New York

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—Smog, together with humid heat, continued today over this area of central New York, and residents were cautioned against even lighting a match outdoors.

Dr. Robert H. Broad, Tompkins County health commissioner, said pollution and hot-air inversion had been common in central New York this week and had created a "serious smog hazard."

In Albany, the Weather Bureau noted that the temperatures were ranging toward or into the 90s in the state for the third straight day but that cooler weather was in the offing.

A spokesman for the State Health Department said that its only report so far concerning dangerous smog was that from Tompkins County.

Poor People W. Memphis March Set

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP) — A 150-mile "poor people's march" from West Memphis to Little Rock is to begin Aug. 20, and end four days later on the Capitol grounds at Little Rock.

The Rev. Cato Brooks Jr., co-chairman of the Committee for Peaceful Coexistence, announced the march Saturday.

Brooks said he and others would attempt to recruit participants for the march from throughout the state.

"We plan to visit most of the major Negro communities in the state to create interest for the march," Brooks said. "We want to mobilize the poor and that means poor whites as well as poor Negroes."

"We are asking Negroes and poor white people to converge on Little Rock from all parts of the state so we can present a united front and lay our grievances on the steps of the Capitol," Brooks said.

Brooks said "hundreds" would participate in the march along Interstate 40. He said a "poor people's rally" would climax the march at the Capitol.

He said he was not sure whether marchers would attempt to camp on the Capitol grounds. Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller has said he will take whatever steps are necessary to prevent such action.

Brooks said Rockefeller would be asked to attend the Aug. 24 rally.

"If he doesn't come, we will take it as an insult to the poor people of Arkansas," Brooks said.

He said the only way to stop the march "is to eliminate poverty in Arkansas between now and Aug. 20."

Brooks said leaders of the march would attempt to make sure that all aspects of the march are legal.

"We would like the State Police to tell us under what conditions we can conduct the march, and we would like the Highway Department to tell us where we can camp overnight," Brooks said.

Wilson Is Athlete of Month

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A panel of Arkansas sportswriters has selected Clyde "Sug" Wilson of Hot Springs, recent winner of the state amateur golf championship, as amateur athlete of the month for June.

Wilson, who will receive the Charles T. Meyer Foundation Award, won the tournament with a one-under-par score of 287.

Fred Jackson, a sprinter from State College of Arkansas, was second to Wilson. Hurdler Thomas Hill of Arkansas State University was third followed by golfer Martha Jett of Little Rock and Jim Crawford of Harding College.

Funds Hiked in Fight on Crime, Drugs

WASHINGTON (AP) — A big increase in funds to combat crime in the streets and drug abuses was approved today by the House Appropriations Committee.

The committee also adopted a new, tough provision aimed at student rioters, and turned down an administration request for more money to help local school districts desegregate.

The actions were taken by the committee in approving a bill that would appropriate $2.5 billion for the departments of State, Commerce and Justice during the current fiscal year.

round total of 279. He was tied with Tommy Jacobs, Gay Brewer and Hill who broke the deadlock on the first hole with a birdie.

Hill took home the $30,000 first-place money and Sikes, Brewer and Jacobs each won $11,000.

All Quiet on Vietnam Front

By RICHARD PYLE
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's battlefields were reported quiet today, with only one minor incident reported in the first eight hours after the U.S. moon landing.

The U.S. Command said operations of American troops in the field were proceeding normally. But the only action reported in the first hours after Apollo 11's lunar module touched down as a six-round mortar attack on a South Vietnamese camp a mile south of the demilitarized zone. It caused no casualties or damage.

"There's just not a bloody thing going on," said one officer.

Little action also was reported Sunday as the lull in the war continued into a fifth week.

The U.S. Command reported 18 enemy shellings from 8 a.m. Sunday to 8 a.m. today, including four attacks on U.S. bases. Five of the attacks caused casualties among the Vietnamese,

8 Highway Deaths for Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Eight persons lost their lives on Arkansas highways over the weekend period.

The Associated Press count began Friday at 6 p.m. and ended Sunday at midnight.

Killed were Francis McCain, 16, of Wilcox; Ronnie Benton Hanner, 19, and Joe Edd Whitten, 19, both of Forrest City; Carolyn Miller, 19, of Luxora; L. T. Coleman, 36, of Holly Grove; Herman R. McClain, 74, and his wife, Hettie, 55, of Locust Grove and Berry Hempstead, 60, of Gurdon.

McCain, Hanner and Whitten were fatally injured and another youth critically injured Saturday night when the car they were in went out of control at a high speed and struck a concrete retaining wall at Forrest City. Whitten was driving, officers said.

Miss Miller was fatally injured Saturday night when she was thrown from a tractor on a county road near Burdette, eight miles north of Osceola. She was crushed, officers said.

Coleman also was killed Saturday night. He was fatally killed when he was struck by a pickup truck on Arkansas 49 5.4 miles west of Marvell. Officers said Coleman wandered into the path of the truck.

McClain and his wife died Saturday in a two-car collision 1.7 miles west of Locust Grove on Arkansas 25. Officers said another vehicle crossed into their lane and struck their vehicle headon.

Hempstead was injured fatally Saturday in a two-car collision on Arkansas 24, six miles west of Prescott. A truck turned in front of the vehicle the victim was riding in, officers said.

Kosygin Says Russia Will Co-operate

MOSCOW (AP) — Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey met today with Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin and said Kosygin told him the Soviet government is looking forward to cooperation with the United States.

"Kosygin gave me a message to take back to the United States," Humphrey said after the 2 1/2-hour meeting. "He wanted me to tell the President and the American people that the Soviet Union wants to work with the United States for peace."

"I think there is a basic Soviet desire to negotiate in good faith on matters of substance," Humphrey also reported that Kosygin was "very complimentary about Apollo 11 and expressed his personal good wishes to the astronauts and their families." Humphrey told a news conference that the premier was very complimentary in general about U.S. space achievements.

The chief of the Soviet Communist party, Leonid Brezhnev, also wished the Apollo mission success as he arrived in Warsaw to attend the 25th anniversary celebrations of the Polish Communist government. As he passed down the receiving line at the airport, he shook hands with U.S. Ambassador Walter J. Stoessel Jr. and said in Russian, "Z uspehom," which means "With success," Stoessel told newsmen afterwards.

Humphrey was going later today to Yugoslavia.

but there were no American casualties, the command said.

The U.S. Command also announced the closing out of Operation Mighty Play, a search-and-clear operation by American and South Korean Marines along the coast seven miles south of Da Nang.

The operation began July 10 and resulted in 31 enemy killed, the U.S. Command said, with American losses of three killed and 34 wounded, most of them by booby traps and mines in the coastal dunes. It was the third large Marine operation closed out in the northern provinces in the last week.

A U.S. Marine helicopter hauling South Vietnamese troops was shot down 22 miles south of Da Nang, killing nine South Vietnamese and injuring one American and eight South Vietnamese. It was the 2,862nd helicopter reported lost in the war.

North Vietnam reported its antiaircraft gunners shot down another pilotless American reconnaissance plane. There was no comment from the U.S. Command in Saigon, which refuses to give any information on operations of such planes over North Vietnam.

South Vietnamese forces reported killing 61 Viet Cong or North Vietnamese in clashes near Dong Ha and Quang Tri, 10 to 12 miles south of the DMZ. The government said four of its troops were killed and six wounded.

U.S. paratroopers tangled with a North Vietnamese unit 30 miles southwest of Hue near the A Shau Valley. The U.S. Command said two Americans and three North Vietnamese were killed and 10 Americans were wounded. In another clash in the same area Saturday, five Americans and three enemy were reported killed.

Troops of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division reported finding 22 enemy bodies in three blasted bunker complexes in Tay Ninh Province 50 miles northwest of Saigon.

Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, completed a four-day visit and told newsmen as he left for Washington that he could detect no "political motivation" on the part of the Communist command in the battlefield lull.

Wheeler also said the current lower level of infiltration from North Vietnam was expected to continue for several months. But he said such infiltration has always been cyclical, and "I will have to wait another few months before I know exactly what the enemy is up to."

The military chief refused to say what he would tell President Nixon about the prospects for more withdrawal of U.S. troops. He said "Vietnamization" of the war, "including U.S. troop replacements," was a prime subject of his talks, but it would be "unbecoming of me to pre-empt the President."

Triumph of Ages
— Man Lands

LUNAR MODULE HAS LANDED ON MOON

Sunday, July 20, 1969: A day to be proud of men—not just Americans but all mankind—for this day Man escaped from his own earth and made a safe landing on the moon.

All the science of all the men on earth went into that fantastic and perilous mission, and the last agonizing 20 seconds of the descent to the rocky crust of the moon was without parallel.

Later, two of the three astronauts walked about on the moon—but it seemed an anti-climax compared to the breathless moment of their arrival.

We are God's chosen, the Book tells us—and this was the demonstration.

Further proof of man's greatness was given when Armstrong and Aldrin, walking about the moon, exulted over the fact that they found just what the scientists, judging from telescopes and pictures from earlier flights, said they would find.

Man is a most able person—that one being with the ability to escape from his own planet. It is the greatest landmark in human history—marking the point at which the dream of centuries was turned into reality.

And as the world watched, millions thought of the trio's forgotten man—Collins, who stayed with the mother spaceship Columbia, orbiting the moon alone against the hour when Armstrong and Aldrin would bring up their lunar landing vehicle Eagle to rejoin him for the voyage homeward.

Collins the forgotten man—but hardly. The world will never forget it took three to make the team that reached the moon. And wherever one is mentioned the world will recall all three.

G.&F. Won't Buy Home of Hackler

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Game and Fish Commission today refused to take any action on the suggestion that it purchase the home of outgoing Director Hugh Hackler.

The suggestion was made at the commission's June meeting in Blytheville that a home be purchased for the director of the commission.

The commission said purchase of a home would help make up for the discrepancy in the salary of the director compared to the salary of director's in other states.

The commission asked the legislature to set the director's salary at $15,000 a year, but the request was denied. The director makes $12,500 at present. Hackler said the directors in other states average more than $20,000 annually.

Hackler said he would sell his 4½-year-old home for $28,000. The commissioners said this sum did not sound exorbitant.

$74,996 Grant for Medicine

The Southwest Arkansas Development Council, Inc., recently received a grant in the amount of $74,996 for an Emergency Food and Medical Program, to be operated in seven counties served by SWADC.

Director Alvin Brannon states that the essence of this program is to provide, on a temporary basis, such basic foodstuffs and medical services as may be necessary to counteract conditions of starvation or malnutrition among the poor. The program also includes providing assistance to non-participating but eligible persons to enroll in Food Stamp or other local food programs.

Further information concerning this program may be obtained from Mrs. Georgia Clark, OEO Resident Worker at the Hempstead County Neighborhood Service Center, or Mrs. Drew, County Welfare Director.

Sen. Kennedy Faces Charge in Car Death

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — Police today filed a formal complaint charging Sen. Edward M. Kennedy with leaving the scene of an accident.

The complaint stems from a weekend wreck on Chappaquiddick Island, adjacent to Martha's Vineyard on which this small resort town is located. A young woman was killed and Kennedy injured, though apparently not seriously.

The complaint was filed by Police Chief Domenico J. Arena with the District Court Clerk Thomas A. Teller.

Arena said that an Edgartown lawyer, Richard J. McCarran, had informed the clerk he is representing Kennedy. McCarran asked for a hearing, to which Kennedy is entitled before any summons is issued.

Teller set July 28 for the hearing, which will be held in the Edgartown courthouse.

A crowd of several hundred persons, mostly tourists, filled the street outside the red brick, century-old courthouse as Arena crossed the street from his headquarters in the Town Hall to visit the clerk.

Arena said Sunday he is "firmly convinced there was no negligence involved" in the accident.

These two photographs were made from the moon telecast Sunday night in Hope by The Star's editor using two cameras on his home screen:

TOP—Simulation of the landing craft Eagle, and the printed flash that the lunar landing had been completed. BOTTOM—Actual picture of the second man, Aldrin, stepping down on the surface of the moon. As the telecasters explained, the low angle of light from the sun made it difficult to photograph the astronauts at the crucial moment. Armstrong's picture turned was entirely too dark, but we did come up with Aldrin's.

Great Variety of Rock Samples Is Gathered On Moon

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Writer SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo astronauts struck paydirt in their prospecting on the moon.

Their luck especially was in finding a great variety of different rocks, which could tell much about the moon's age and origin.

They saw a curious purple rock and perhaps put it in one of the two treasure chests they are bringing home.

And they cored out a five-inch deep sample of lunar soil that "looks moist," a suggestion there might be water and so perhaps microscopic life beneath the moon's surface. But the moist, dark appearance could simply be from tight packing of fine particles of material, cautions David McKay, geologist of the Manned Spacecraft Center.

They found the crust of the moon much harder than numerous geologists and astronomers expected they would. It took work to dig out two core samples and to plant the American flag.

They found rocks that look like basalt, born of volcanoes, and rocks resembling biotite, a dark colored mica that usually contains two to four per cent water. They found the surface dusty, getting their boots coated cocoa brown with it.

They set up a seismometer which soon was recording moon tremors, although these might be only from the footsteps of the astronauts, especially when they cavorted on the desert-like moon like kids in a playground.

If the moon still shimmies after they leave today, scientists think the ultra-sensitive instruments can tell them if the quakes come from volcanic activity, or hits by meteorites.

Reds Land Luna 15 on the Moon

By ANDREW TORCHIA

JODRELL BANK, England (AP) — Russia landed Luna 15 on the moon's surface today, 500 miles from where America's Apollo astronauts were preparing to take off on their journey back to earth, Jodrell Bank Observatory reported.

Signals picked up at the giant radio-telescope here indicated that after four days of moon orbit the unmanned probe land on the moon's Sea of Crises.

Jodrell Observatory, headed by 55-year-old Sir Bernard Lovell, stood by for any sign that Luna itself might be preparing to return to earth.

Prof. John G. Davies, Lovell's aide, said at 12:05 p.m. EDT: "Luna has landed."

The last signals received from Luna were "appropriate to a soft landing," he added.

Unofficial sources in Moscow had predicted when Luna 15 took off July 13 that it would attempt a remote-controlled lunar landing to retrieve a sample of moon soil—a task already performed by the American astronauts.

But in the absence of signals, there was no immediate indication that Luna 15 was operating "live" on the moon's surface.

After Safe Landing Last Chapter Is the Return Blastoff

First Steps on Moon Full of Caution

By SAUL PETT

AP Special Correspondent SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — They took their first steps onto the moon cautiously, like prudent boys testing the first ice of winter on a country pond.

When first they walked, they walked carefully and slowly, leaning forward, plodding heavily like tired old cops on a beat in Staten Island.

As they acquired confidence, they walked faster, now with a slow bounce in the one-sixth gravity of the moon. And then they ran and their stride was longer than on earth and their shoes seemed suspended off the strange lunar surface, with something of the floating quality of figures on slow motion film.

When they were still, they seemed very still, as if frozen, and they leaned forward like puppets to be at a lunar form of attention when the president spoke to them from earth.

All the while, the earth was "bright and beautiful" above them. In this first incredible day of an incredible new era one needs to repeat that: the earth was above them.

In the distance, the lunar surface looked pocked and leathery like the back of a dead alligator. Closer up, it looked like rubble, like earth levelled roughly after a disaster, dead.

They looked ghostlike on the soundless, airless, mostly colorless moon. Over the curving horizon, only one and a half miles away on a planet smaller than earth, there was the blackness of space and infinity. The foreground was starkly lighted by the sun and the men and their vehicle cast long shadows. It was dawn on the moon and a dawn in the history of man.

Neil Alden Armstrong, formerly of 601 West Benton St., Wapakoneta, a town in Ohio, a state in the United States, a country on the planet earth, extended his left foot onto the moon.

"That's one small step for man, one giant leap for mankind," he said. The first words were fine. History would be content.

Now for the scientists: "The surface is fine and powdery. It adheres like charcoal to the soles of my shoes. You go down only about an inch."

And for the doctors: "There seems to be no difficulty in moving around."

Critical Moment Is Behind Pair

By HOWARD BENEDICT

AP Aerospace Writer SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Two Americans blasted off from the moon today, reaching the relative safety of lunar orbit and leaving their footprints in the lunar dust and in the history of man.

It was the first time anything had ever rocketed away from the moon.

Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin A. Aldrin Jr. immediately began pursuing the command ship, orbiting 69 miles above the surface with astronaut Michael Collins at the controls.

"Beautiful, very smooth," Aldrin commented as Eagle took off from the moon. "A very quiet ride. There's that one crater down there."

"We've a little bit of slow wallowing here," he said later.

"Shutdown," he called out as the engine stopped.

"Great," Mission Control said and reported Eagle in a near-perfect orbit ranging from about 11 to 54 miles high.

They had to catch Collins in a 3½-hour chase to get back to earth. Their lunar vehicle was not built to take them home.

Collins was spring-loaded to speed to the rescue if something should go wrong with the lunar taxi called Eagle.

"Roger, understand we're No. 1 on the runway," Aldrin said minutes before the blastoff.

A fiery burst from a small engine propelled Armstrong and Aldrin off the moon at 1:54 p.m. EDT, ending man's first exploration of another celestial body.

They had camped at the base named Tranquility for 21 hours 36 minutes, raising the banner of their nation above it and fulfilling a dream of the ages. Seven minutes 18 seconds after the liftoff, Eagle's cabin section settled into a low lunar orbit. The bottom half of the vehicle, with the landing legs, served as a launching pad and was left on the moon.

The command ship, Columbia, and Eagle, had worked in close radio harmony as the critical firing neared. Precisely 69 seconds after Collins flashed over the landing site, Armstrong and Aldrin took off.

By the time they reached orbit, Columbia was 300 miles ahead and the chase was on.

Armstrong and Aldrin were to execute several intricate maneuvers, triggered by engine firings, to close the gap and catch its fleeting target.

Linkup was scheduled for 5:32 p.m.

After a rest period, the astronauts plan to light up the big command ship engine at 12:37 a.m. Tuesday to start the quarter-million-mile journey back to earth. Splashdown is scheduled at 12:51 p.m. Thursday in the Pacific.

Just hours before Eagle departed, the moon received another visitor. Russia's unmanned Luna 15 landed in the Sea of Crises, 500 miles from the Americans, after orbiting the moon for several days on a mystery mission.

Britain's Jodrell Bank Observatory reported Luna's radio transmitting device had been traveling at about 300 m.p.h. when the signals stopped and "it is unlikely that anything could have survived such an impact."

Mission control awakened the moonmen shortly after 11 a.m. following a six-hour rest period. Instruments which monitored Armstrong during the night indicated he slept fitfully. There is only one set of biomedical instruments in the cabin so Aldrin was not monitored.

Checking of systems and switch settings for the critical liftoff was the No. 1 priority after wake-up.
